As the description above suggests, the student will be introduced to the fundamental aspects of the Italian language, and will understand why one would want to learn this beautiful language. Ultimately, the main purpose of the course is to prepare the student to embark on a new series of full-semester courses of Italian, from beginning to advanced-intermediate levels of proficiency. This new series will commence in the Spring of 2025.

General interest video clips promoting continued interest in the Italian language and culture will periodically be presented throughout this course. The remainder will consist of lectures with some introductory class practice on pronunciation.
